How much?	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>* 10 spellings a week.</li> </ul>	At least 15 minutes reading each day, but the more your child is reading, the more advantageous it is for them.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>* One maths homework piece a week.</li> <li>* Times tables should be being learnt at home, in the car, when you're out for a walk – The more, the better.</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>* The amount of work and the type of work will vary from task to task.</li> <li>* Each piece of topic work will have an accompanying explanation sheet, which will explain the time your child should be putting into each piece.</li> </ul>
Expectations of this type of homework	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>* Each word is written out 5 times in spelling homework books.</li> <li>* Each word is also put in a sentence and written out correctly.</li> <li>* If your child doesn't know the meaning of the spelling, they should look it up in a dictionary.</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>* Reading Record is signed off each day – This could just be your initials and what was read. However, if you want to write a few notes on anything that was a problem for your child, then this is also helpful.</li> <li>* Your child may be able to read independently, but it's still useful for them to read</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>* The homework task will always be linked to work we have covered in class during the week, so it should be a chance for your child to show off new skills and to consolidate what they have learnt.</li> <li>* Homework should be completed independently – If your child needs help, then</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>* As your child will usually have a much longer period of time to complete each task, the expectation is that these pieces of work are completed to a high quality.</li> </ul>

	* Spelling homework books should be handed in every Thursday for marking.	aloud with you a couple of times a week. You could even have a special book that you read together.	they can complete it with me during the following week. <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>* Maths homework tasks should be completed neatly in maths homework books.</li><li>* From time to time, your child will be asked to complete a task on Mathematics instead of a written task in their books.</li></ul>
